"I love fashion for the challenge, the never-ending change that you have to keep up with, the evolution, and the way that it represents art and culture."

PIA GLADYS PEREY

Sydney-based designer Pia takes things in retrospect and introduces an imagination who had three years back designed her collection of contemporary temptress the nymphets of Greek mythology in modern wardrobing. She used draping to accomplish a whole collection. Jersey fabric took centre stage, cut and arranged for volume and interesting lines. Wooden accessories gave a twist of ethnic vibe to the relaxed elegance of the collection.

WHAT'S HOT: The cool functionality of the pieces and the way it shapes the silhouette. We love the modern cut of the romper's bottoms; ideally on the top half and slimmer towards the bottom.

Inspiration

A classic show the timelessness and elegance of Greek goddesses and infuses them with a touch of sexiness that is reminiscent of the American model "Vanessa Chase"
