PIA GLADYS PEREY
Empowering women of all shapes and sizes

BY CARLA BIANCA Y. RAMIREZ-MORAN

It was an unusually cold summer night in Westlake, California, but Wendie Magazine managed to turn up the heat in a celebration of fashion and fit with a petite Filipina and her beautiful dresses at the center of attention.

Undoubtedly the glow of the spotlights and flashing cameras, the hushed excitement of a crowd of people and the bright lights of the stage were the perfect backdrop for the petite Filipina. She was smiling, her hair styled in loose waves, looking at the camera with a warm, confident expression. She was wearing a light-colored, sleeveless dress with a subtle pattern. The atmosphere was electric, and she was the center of it all.

A decade of strength

When she launched Wendie Magazine in 2007, she had no idea it would become a platform for women of all shapes and sizes. At the time, she was just a young woman with a passion for fashion and a desire to create a space where women of all shapes and sizes could feel confident and beautiful. She started with a small team and a limited budget, but her vision was clear. She wanted to create a magazine that was not just about fashion, but about the women who wore it.

She has since grown the magazine into a thriving business, and she has become a role model for many women. She has shown that it is possible to start your own business, even if you are a young woman with a limited budget. She has shown that it is possible to create a space where women of all shapes and sizes can feel confident and beautiful. She has shown that it is possible to make a difference in the world, even if you are just one person.

Every woman has a unique shape and size, and Pia Gladys Perey has shown that it is possible to create a space where all women can feel confident and beautiful.
